July 15th 2016 - Castione di Loria (TV). Afolki Berber Rugs ( www.afolki.com ), will be participating at Maison&Objet in Paris at booth 5B, stand C38, to present to Clients and Interior Designers the new collection of Berber Rugs made by Beni Ourain, Talsent, Azilal, Mats and Kilims.

A wide range of choice and of excellent qualitative value, guaranteed by the direct selection in the areas of production.

Antique rugs, restored and preserved, which belonged to the antique nomadic life and were used in tents in the journeys through the desert of the Atlas Mountains.

Contemporary rugs and mats, made today by weaver's cooperatives which still weave the pieces following the ancient methods, the original symbols of the Berber culture and the natural warps, dyed with simple and ecological colors.

Berber rugs, in their black and white contrast and in their vivid colors with shades of red, orange, blue and brown, allow those involved in interior design, to create contrasts and color effects to enhance environments both in a classic or a contemporary style and to provide a natural feel which belongs to the history of man.

Afolki at Maison&Objet offers the service of Consultation and Training for professionals and designers, to help them best seize the meaning of the symbols contained in the Berber Rugs, icons that belong to the original history of man and that are born from the experiences and dreams of an ancient nomadic population, open to the discovery of the Ancient World.

To know how to choose the right Rugs, involves to complete the interior design project caring for all the details: Afolki has thus successfully supported Designer for years with great success.
